Big Bend and Guadalupe Mountains National Parks suffer from the transport of air pollutants from Texas industries and power plants and other sources. I've seen the deterioration over forty years.

I hope the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality will adopt a "regional haze" clean-up plan to meet the national goal for natural visibility in our national parks.

Please scrap any inadequate plan to address "regional haze" problems in national parks and prepare a plan with new air pollution control strategies that will clear the air in our parks.

Thanks for your consideration.
