TEXAS COMMISSION ON ENVIRONMENTAL QUALITY

Protecting Texas by Reducing and Preventing Pollution

January 23, 2012

Re: Alert for Permitted State Surface Water Diversions in the Neches River Basin

Dear Water Right Holder:

By letter dated November 10, 2011, the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality (TCEQ) notified you that certain non-municipal diversions with a priority date of August 13, 1913 or later in the Neches River Basin were suspended due to a priority call on surface water from a senior water right holder. In accordance with the Texas Water Code (TWC), §5.013(a)(1), the TCEQ is responsible for enforcing water rights, which requires protecting senior and superior surface water rights, and must take action in response to the priority call.

The senior water right holder has now amended the priority call, and the TCEQ has lifted the majority of the suspensions, however some water rights are still suspended. A copy of this correspondence is enclosed for your reference.

Domestic and livestock diversions are not subject to this suspension. Suspended water right permits issued with multiple uses may continue to divert water for municipal, domestic, and power generation purposes only. Junior permit holders with impoundments are not required to release any previously stored water and may continue to use that water; however, new inflows to impoundments must be passed downstream in order to meet senior needs.

These actions are guided by the priority doctrine, established in TWC §11.027. The most senior water rights are served first during times of drought with domestic and livestock uses superior to any appropriated rights. Water rights are suspended or curtailed by priority date, with the most recently issued – or “junior” – priority users suspended before senior water rights in the area.

The TCEQ continues to monitor the situation closely and strives to balance protection of the senior surface water rights while attempting to minimize the impact to junior water right holders, within TCEQ’s authority. Please note that should drought conditions persist or worsen, additional suspensions of junior water rights may again be necessary.

You may find additional drought information on TCEQ’s drought web page, located at: <http://www.tceq.texas.gov/agency/drought.html> or by contacting the TCEQ Drought Hotline at 1-800-447-2827. You may also contact Ms. Amy Settemeyer, Water Rights Liaison, at the TCEQ Central Office in Austin at 512-239-2588 should you have additional questions on this matter.

Sincerely,
