Denying Austin funds from the VW settlement on the basis that it should go to places with dirtier air is wrong and irrational for several reasons:

1. Funds should be given to those who are good stewards of the environment who recognize science will be used prudently resulting in cleaner air.
2. Funds given to bad stewards of the environment who think science is fake will be wasted resulting in dirtier air.
3. Giving funds to bad stewards and denying funds to good stewards rewards and encourages bad conduct.

Wake up and use a little common sense to help the environment!
