Subject: Thermal Procedures Comment

To Whom It May Concern:

Throughout the draft implementation document and PowerPoint presentation, the term "impact zone" is used, but not defined. Impact zone appears to be the term used for the overlap of 2 or more thermal wastewater discharges from different point sources into the same waterbody. In my opinion, impact zone needs to be defined to include an explanation as to how to determine the impact zone.

Thank-you for considering this comment,
Patty
