Public Comment – Psalm 25:10 Foundation – WQ0016202001 – Godley, Johnson County Texas

Insufficient public notice has been provided by the applicant.

TCEQ should require the applicant to reissue a combined public notice to all persons who are required to receive mailed notice, republish newspaper notice in both English and Spanish, include correct contact information for the applicant, and place a complete copy of the application in a fully accessible public location so it can be reviewed and copied by the public.

Examples of notice deficiencies include the following:

1. Incorrect address information was included on mailing labels provided by the applicant to TCEQ, thereby depriving interested persons of actual mailed notice under agency rules (e.g., Edith Irvlene Hays, who owns land adjacent to the applicant's property, did not receive either the NORI or NAPD notices mailed by TCEQ because of obviously flawed address information provided by the applicant; and several other mailed notices with less obvious flaws were also returned as undeliverable, because the applicant directed TCEQ to mail notice to the "property location" instead than the "owner address" that is listed with the Johnson County Appraisal District).
2. Alternative language (Spanish) newspaper language was not provided because the applicant did not correctly research and/or report to TCEQ the actual existence of a bilingual education program (BEP) in the Godley Independent School District, contrary to agency requirements.
3. Interested persons were not able to reach a proper representative of the applicant by telephone because of an error in the information provided by the applicant and included in the public notice, contrary to agency requirements.
4. Interested persons were not able to fully access and make copies of the application because the applicant chose a municipal building location that was inaccessible during a portion of the public comment period, despite agency requirements and representations from the applicant.
